Isolation

‘isolation’

noun

noun: isolation

the process or fact of isolating or being isolated.

“isolation from family and friends may also contribute to anxiety” denoting a hospital or ward for patients with contagious or infectious diseases.

modifier noun: isolation

an instance of isolating something, especially a compound or microorganism.

“Is it? Specialist and mental health appointments postponed or cancelled up and down the country. Referrals for these services have had a hand break applied. My daughter, son and father-in-law have all been affected. They’re not the only ones.”
